

Cork Lower Harbour Main Drainage Project

Cobh Networks Contract

Untreated raw sewage has been discharging directly into the lower harbour for decades. Irish Water, working in partnership with Cork County Council are ending this practice by delivering the Cork Lower Harbour Main Drainage Project.

What is involved in the Cobh Networks Contract?

Wastewater from Cobh town's homes and businesses is collected in Irish Water's sewer network. It then discharges untreated through 19 outfall pipes directly into Cork Harbour.

Irish Water, working in partnership with Cork County Council are ending this practice by delivering the Cork Lower Harbour Main Drainage Project. The Cobh Networks Contract will collect that wastewater by constructing:

- 5 pumping stations
- 3,750m of gravity sewer mains/pipes
- 3,125m of pumped sewer mains/pipes

The wastewater will be transferred for treatment via the Cobh to Monkstown Estuary Crossing to Monkstown pumping station, from where it will be pumped on to Shanbally Wastewater Treatment plant.

How long will the work take?

The works will take approximately 2 years to complete.
